

Well then, well

If I start a business...

① For a solo business owner

When visiting a customer's home,

A: "Can you pick me up?"

B: "Uh, I don't understand what you're saying..."

A: "Well, then..."

B: "I wish you'd be more clear..."

A: "We're looking for a professional driver, so I'll let you know once we've decided on that..."

B: "What... you don't have a license..."

A: "I have a Class 2 license."

B: "Maybe your license is suspended...?"

② When advertising a job

This isn't a transportation or transportation-related position, but

"We're only looking for round-trip drivers who won't get lost. Don't try to learn the roads after joining the company."

(Note) This is for transportation to and from clients' companies, not private homes.

The above text was used to post the job on Hello Work.